$200,000 FOR P. O. BUILDING

U. S. Senator Smith Asks Appropriation for Calumet

Calumet is in line for a $200,000 federal building to be used for postoffice purposes. United States Senator William Alden Smith introduced a bill in the Senate Tuesday providing an appropriation of that amount for such a building, and is working hard to secure favorable action. In this he will be assisted by local business men and it is expected Congressman Young will lend his support in the House.

Mayor Frank H. Schumaker was advised of the action taken by Senator Smith in the following telegram received from him last evening:

"I introduced a bill in the Senate today providing for a public building at Calumet to cost two hundred thousand dollars. Please furnish me with information regarding your city's needs and volume of trade and present population and any other information calculated to help me secure this improvement."—William Alden Smith.

The above message came as a surprise to Mayor Schumaker and other business men, for there has been no recent agitation for such a federal appropriation. The matter was taken up a few years ago with Congressman Young and Senator Smith, but no action was taken at that time. When the twelfth district congressman introduced a bill in the House last week asking for an appropriation for $100,000 for a building for a federal building, and making no mention of Calumet's needs, local people practically gave up hope of action by the present Congress. It appears, however, that Senator Smith has borne in mind the application made a few years ago and his voluntary action is highly appreciated by Calumet business people, who will hasten to supply the desired information.

If favorable action is taken by Congress on Senator Smith's bill, it is expected the new building will mean the consolidation of the Calumet, Laurium, Keosauqua and Osceola postoffices. The residents of all of these communities could easily be served through one central office in Calumet and the work might be systematized better as a result of proposed action. These postoffices now serve about 40,000 people.

It has long been recognized that a new postoffice building is needed in Calumet. As the lease on the Laurium postoffice site expired some time ago, and has not been renewed so far, an excellent opportunity is provided for consolidating the two offices, as well as the offices at Osceola and Keosauqua. Calumet residents will watch developments with great interest.

SPIRITED CONTEST FOR OSCEOLA TREASURERSHIP

NINE CANDIDATES ALREADY IN THE RACE AND OTHERS MAY ENTER.

Although there is practically no interest in the coming elections in Red Jacket, Laurium and Calumet township, the same cannot be said of Osceola township, for to date no less than nine candidates have appeared for the office of township treasurer there. It is expected other candidates will be in line, for some names have already been mentioned in this connection.

The candidates already announced for this office are as follows: Precinct No. 1, Osceola location—William J. Crocker, James Chapple, Samuel Barkla and John White.

Precinct No. 2, Dollar Bay—George Kitto and J. J. Lawler.

Precinct No. 3, Tamarack—Neil Dick, Louis L. Olsen and William Wills.

When it is considered that the total vote of Osceola township does not exceed 1,000, it is evident that the coming township caucus and election will be decidedly spirited.

WHO OWNS THE SKY?

Supreme Court to Decide Whether Aviator May Fly Anywhere.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The much disputed right of one aviator to fly over another's land may be touched upon, if not specifically considered, by the supreme court for the first time shortly after the court convenes next week. The point promises to arise in one of the most novel cases to come before the court in years.

It embraces the question of whether the government has "taken" property, within the meaning of the Constitution, by firing cannon over it, as a practice exercised in time of peace.

The case concerns the operation of battery Bohlen in Maine, near Portsmouth, N. H. The Portsmouth Harbor Land & Hotel Co. owns a strip of land along the seashore, on which a hotel and cottages have been built as a summer resort. The battery is directly back of the land, with only a narrow frontage on the sea shore. Should shots from the fort be fired over the government's own property, it is claimed they would come dangerously near either a lighthouse or the populous New Hampshire shore. The company asserts that the government not only has shot across its land, making it undesirable for a summer resort, but that shooting across its land is the only practical way the guns may be discharged.

Under such a situation, it is claimed its property has been "taken" by the government. The company lays claim to dominion above the surface of the land as well as under it.

SOME HOCKEY, THIS!

The Tamarack hockey team defeated the Red Jacket seven in two games last Saturday, the first by the score of 7 to 3, and the second, 8 to 6. The feature of both games was the shooting of Carlos for the winners, he making all seven goals in the first game and four goals in the second. Russell Cane also played a star game for the winners. The same teams will meet again Saturday this week. The average age of the players is 14 years.

FINNS MAY GO TO FATHERLAND

Mustonen At Head of Movement Started in Duluth

Prof. Sanfrid Mustonen, well known here as the director of several Finnish choral clubs a few years ago, but now of Duluth, is at the head of a movement started in that city to organize a large party of Finnish residents to visit the fatherland during the summer. Several concerts have already been given in the Zenith city with a view of raising money for this trip and it is planned to give other concerts during the next few months, one or more of which likely will be held in the copper country. Prof. Mustonen is also making an effort to interest local Finnish residents to join the party and make the trip to Finland. The plan is to organize a large choral choir and to give concerts in the eastern states as well as in Finland.

Relative to a recent concert in Duluth, the Duluth Herald says:

The Finnish folk songs are typical of the history of the nation, with its centuries of struggle and repression. They are for the most part tinged with melancholy, in a minor key, and with a tonality resembling the ancient plain song melodies of the church. Yet through them all is breathed the hopeful determination and patriotic zeal that has preserved the unity of the Finnish nation in spite of tyranny and oppression. These were well rendered in the organ and much enjoyed. The singing of the two Finnish choirs under the able direction of Sanfrid Mustonen reflected great credit both on singers and director.

In the mixed choir the soprano and alto parts were especially good and were well supported by the tenor and bass sections. In their second number, "Joy and Sorrow," a fine effect was produced by a soprano obligato, sung from the wing by Mrs. Mustonen. The singing of the male choir was full of fire and vim. Their rendering of the "March of the Bornebork Regiment" was particularly good, with fine attack and artistic shading. The choir plus a concert tour through the old country next June, and should meet with notable success.

McCarty will remain here for a few days until McCarty comes to some definite understanding with Billy Gibson of New York. McCarty said he is confident he and Gibson can arrange a match between himself and Bombardier Wells.
